

NC APWA CHAPTER, WATER RESOURCES DIVISION 2009 ANNUAL CONFERENCE, WILMINGTON, NC

The Hilton Hotel

The entire technical staff of JEWELL Engineering Consultants, PC (JEC) recently attended the North Carolina APWA Water Resources Division Conference in Wilmington, NC on September 28th and 29th, 2009. The Conference theme this year was “Meeting Regulatory and Public Expectations with Limited Resources”. On Monday evening, after the first day’s session, JEC hosted clients, friends, employees and their spouses for an exquisite dinner at the Pilot House Restaurant overlooking the Cape Fear River. The friendly conversation, beautiful weather, a stunning sunset, outdoor dining, and excellent food, all made this enjoyable evening one to remember.

Along the Cape Fear River boardwalk.

The APWA Water Resources Conference is an annual event for JEC as it provides sponsorship support for the conference and participates with the full staff. The JEC team also often brings their families with them who enjoy the visit to historic Wilmington, strolling on the boardwalk and experiencing the nearby beaches. The Conference provides a special opportunity for us to learn new information, meet new and old friends, and share ideas and experiences in a relaxed setting. The Conference is an event that we enjoy to the fullest.

JEC Team, families & associates enjoying dinner at the Pilot House Restaurant.